

App or sample up and running? Great!

Now you just need some barcodes! We'd say it's time to stretch your legs and go find some barcodes in your kitchen or on your bookshelf. Or if you're not into that, you can print out this sheet.

Print this out! Scanning directly from the screen is not a great indicator of possible performance.

Can't scan? Make sure the symbology is enabled!

Retail and Consumer Goods

7 25272 73070 6

9031 1017

(01)01234567890128

UPC (Universal Product Code)

Used for tracking products and prices in retail settings.

EAN (European Article Number)

Commonly used for product identification in global retail.

GS1 Databar (Databar)

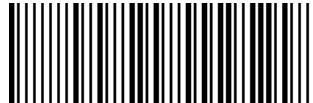

Used for perishable goods and healthcare items, can include expiration dates and batch numbers.

Inventory Management and Logistics

ABC-abc-1234

012345674

ITF (Interleaved 2 of 5)

Used for labeling cartons, boxes, and pallets in the packaging industry.

Healthcare and Specialized Industries

Aa-1234

012345678901

Code 39

Used in healthcare and various other industries for encoding a limited set of characters.

Codabar

Commonly used in libraries and blood banks.

Data-Intensive Codes

QR Code (Quick Response Code)

Used for quickly sharing various types of information.

Data Matrix

Used for encoding large amounts of data, often in industrial settings.

Micro PDF417

Used for storing large amounts of data, including on IDs and travel documents.

Postal and Transportation Services

ABC-1234-/+

Code 93

Often used in postal services for encoding supplementary delivery information.

Aztec Code

Used in transportation tickets and airline boarding passes.

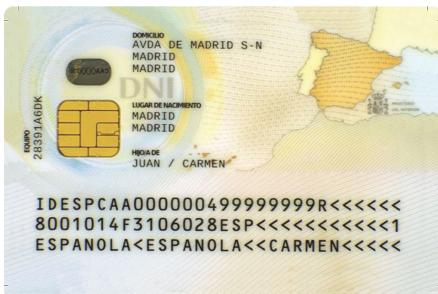

Kix Code

Used in the Netherlands for automated sorting and delivery of mail.

Identity & Travel Documents

MRZ (Machine-Readable Zone)

Used on ID cards, passports and visa stickers for quick data extraction and identity verification.

PDF417

Used on drivers licenses and military IDs in the US and Canada.

Test Batch Scanning or Barcode Selection

Batch scan with MatrixScan Count or the batch scan mode of Scandit Express.

- Select a single code with the accuracy mode of SparkScan or Scandit Express.

Make sure you enable the DataMatrix code!